

Dear colleagues,

The summer has been quite eventful for the geographic communities, rhythmmed by numerous international symposia (IGU Istanbul, Eugeo Prague amongst others). It is now time to prepare the future important steps for the discipline, and notably the Paris IGU-UGI Centennial Congress to be held in Paris in 2022 (July 18-22).

You only have two weeks left to finalise and submit your sessions' proposals (maximum one page long).

The deadline for the submission is October 1st 2021. Any information on the submission process is available on the dedicated webpage of the Congress website: <https://www.ugiparis2022.org/en/sessionsubmission/5>

We kindly remind you that you can submit two types of sessions: either sessions within the Congress theme "Time of geographers" or sessions organised within the perimeter of the IGU commissions. A session can be composed of one to four 1H45 slots. When submitting a session, you are kindly invited to suggest names of some potential presenters, though this is not necessary nor mandatory to have an already closed session with all its participants already selected. A call for papers will be opened quite soon to complete the sessions that will be selected.

We are very much looking forward to reading your proposals and to the great discussions they will certainly trigger!
